

8 QUICK GLANCES AT LOVE

Listen attentively the next time you hear your family or friends speak of a couple in love. You will be amazed how easily it is to pick the aspects right out of a sentence uttered in complete innocence. This new awareness will become quite enlightening if you get the birth dates of the couple in love under discussion and match what you thought you heard in that sentence.

For example, when you hear someone say, “She just idolizes him,” you know there has to be a Venus/Neptune somewhere in her chart that gives her that off-the-ground feeling about love.

Venus represents love and Neptune brings the boundless, nebulous, unearthly quality to the love configuration. If she idolizes all her lovers then you may assume the Venus/Neptune is in her natal chart. If it is just one particular lover she idolizes then there is possibly a Venus/Neptune contact between charts.

Another sentence that told a story was, “She frustrates him constantly and yet he maintains such loyalty toward her.” There was a Venus/Saturn configuration in his chart.

Venus/Saturn may represent duty/love, stable/love, or loyal love. Again, if his attitude toward all his lovers was extremely loyal and duty bound then you may presume this configuration is in his natal chart. If he feels this way only about one particular lover as in this case, then you may assume there is a Venus/Saturn contact between charts.

An interesting statement made about a young girl in love that proved to be correct was, “She has constant upsets and separations with her husband and yet there’s something romantic between them.” This might mean that romantic Uranus is contacting a loving Venus. Not only Venus/Uranus but you also find Saturn there bringing the separations.

Venus/Saturn/Uranus automatically clicks with you when you hear the words “separates” and “reunites.” Minus the Saturn, you have the Venus/Uranus separations and romance but not the stability to bring the relationship back together.

The following case studies are quick glances at potential love patterns in the lives of various individuals. Studying these cases enables you to establish a clear picture of your own Venus love potential and also help others.

You will learn many vital things about your love future throughout this chapter. The most potent aspects and midpoints to Venus have been chosen for dynamic interpretation. It is important to keep in mind that you are isolating one particular area of the chart for research and interpretation - your Venus lovelife.

The people in these case studies are not celebrities. They are ordinary everyday folks that you find in your own neighborhood. There are radical differences in the circumstances and the environment in each love case.

After reading just a few love studies, you will make a very important discovery. Certain configurations in a chart or between charts typically result in a particular love condition or state.

Once you become aware of these conditions manifested through the combination of certain Venus configurations, you will automatically begin to see how the individual may perpetuate the unhappy love condition. You will also see how awareness of this vulnerability may alter the love situation from unhappy to happy.

For example there are a several case studies with a Ve/Ma/Ne combination. You will first note how Neptune undermined the Ve/Ma libido or love energy, then you will see how the Neptune false love idealism kept alive by the individual, maintains the impossible situation.

At the end of reading each love case study, ask yourself this question. How might I use this particular love configuration to create a more effective lovelife?

Even in the most drastic of cases, there is always a solution through the effective potential of the configuration. Your development of awareness to problems presented in these love cases, will carry over in a decisive manner into your own lovelife.

The love case studies are presented in three uniform parts: (1) astrological and cosmobiology chart (2) client history and (3) love interpretation.

Venus in Virgo	25 degrees	0 minutes

The Venus/Saturn/Pluto configuration is one of the most potent configurations that you will find and leads to electrifying case histories. Pluto is first and foremost the stellar body of extremes and intensity, so Pluto in contact with Venus will intensify the need for a love outlet or a creative outlet. Saturn is the great teacher or trainer so you may expect Saturn to either discipline and structure the lovelife in the effective manifestation or pervert and degrade the lovelife in the ineffective manifestation.

This is why the ‘prostitute’ case comes under this configuration. The intense and unrequited need for love may be so severe that it will prostitute itself in a cold Saturn relationship to find momentary emotional comfort.

The Venus/Saturn/Pluto configuration may be read another way. Pluto is fate. Venus/Saturn represents love with an older person. Saturn binds the aspects together, so this may be a relationship that lasts until death.

The following case study is just such an example. All interpretations in the case studies are based on stellar body arrangements in the 90-degree circle unless specifically stated otherwise.

In Illustration #7-1 you see the chart of a female lover with a Venus/Saturn/Pluto/Node configuration in her chart. The history behind this particular love pattern is as follows.
